NYSTROM WORLD

Google Classroom

Nystrom World provides robust integration with Google Classroom

Integration includes the ability to:

- Roster Google Classroom students and classes into your Nystrom World account
- Sync the platforms at any time to update rosters for classes and students
- Create assignments in Nystrom World that are automatically added to your Google courses
- Launch assignments in Nystrom World by clicking on the assignment link in Google Classroom
- Use the “sign in with Google option” for Single Sign On access to Nystrom world. No additional usernames or passwords to remember.
- Review grades published in Nystrom World in your Google Classroom gradebook

ROSTERING

A teacher that connects their Nystrom World (NW) account to their Google Classroom (GC) account will have their GC classes pulled into NW. Teachers can still manage and create classes manually in NW, but classes created manually in NW (and assignments to those classes) will not transfer to Google Classroom.

Any changes to classes that are made in GC (adding/removing students, renaming classes) will occur in NW as well. Changes to classes that are made in NW, will not transfer to GC.

If district is already being rostered through OneRoster files, but teachers also want to connect NW and GC, this must be coordinated between the district's IT department and teachers – if not, teachers may end up with extra classes or duplicated students. If student emails in OneRoster files and Google Classroom do not match, duplicated user accounts will be created.

ASSIGNMENT INTEGRATION

Teacher's assignments in NW will be sent to GC as "course work" for their students.

NW will push into GC only those assignments, which are assigned to GC classes. If a teacher creates an assignment for a non-GC class/student/group, this assignment will not be sent to GC when the sync occurs.

While the teacher's account is connected to GC, creating an assignment in NW will automatically create an assignment in GC, as long as the assignment is created for a GC class in NW. An assignment created for an individual student, or a non-GC class will not be created in GC.

The GC assignment will contain a link to the NW assignment and the instructions entered when creating the NW assignment (if any). Editing a GC-linked assignment in NW will update that assignment in GC.

If for any reason NW is unable to send the assignment to GC (e.g. network or Google service down), the NW assignment will still be created, and the teacher will get a warning to synchronize the assignment manually.

If the student is working on an NW assignment connected to a GC assignment, once the student submits the assignment in NW, it will also be marked as submitted in GC. (If for any reason NW is unable to update the assignment's status in GC, the NW assignment will still be submitted in NW and the student will need to manually synchronize their assignments to GC.)

None of the students' answers, attachments, or annotations are sent from NW to GC.

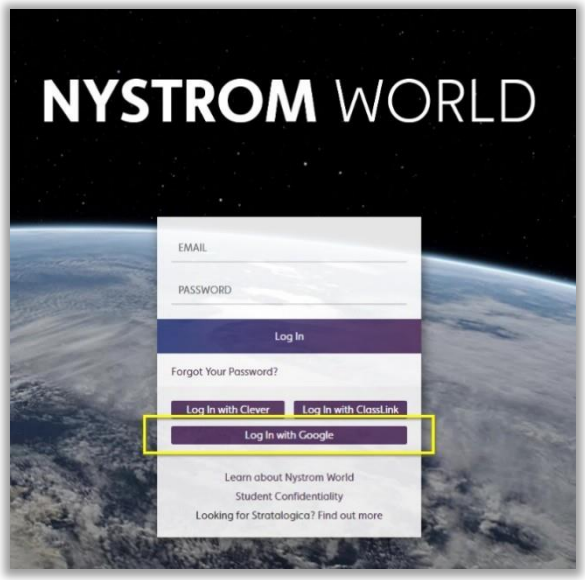

GRADE PASSBACK

Students grades and assignment status ('turned in') will be sent from NW into GC. Students must still go into NW to complete their assignments there, but when turning in their work in NW, the corresponding course work in GC will be updated too.

NW will push student grades into GC for those assignments with student progress that has been graded.

GC requires grades to be numeric. All grades sent to GC will be converted to a 0-100 scale. They will remain unchanged in NW.

Connecting NW-GC for Teachers

1. Login to Nystrom World

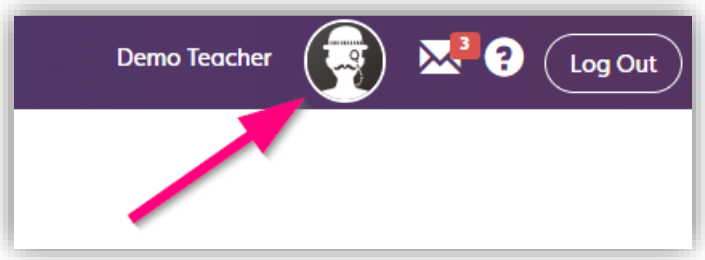

Go to Nystrom World login page and click "Log in with Google".

Make sure to select the email address that is registered for GC account.

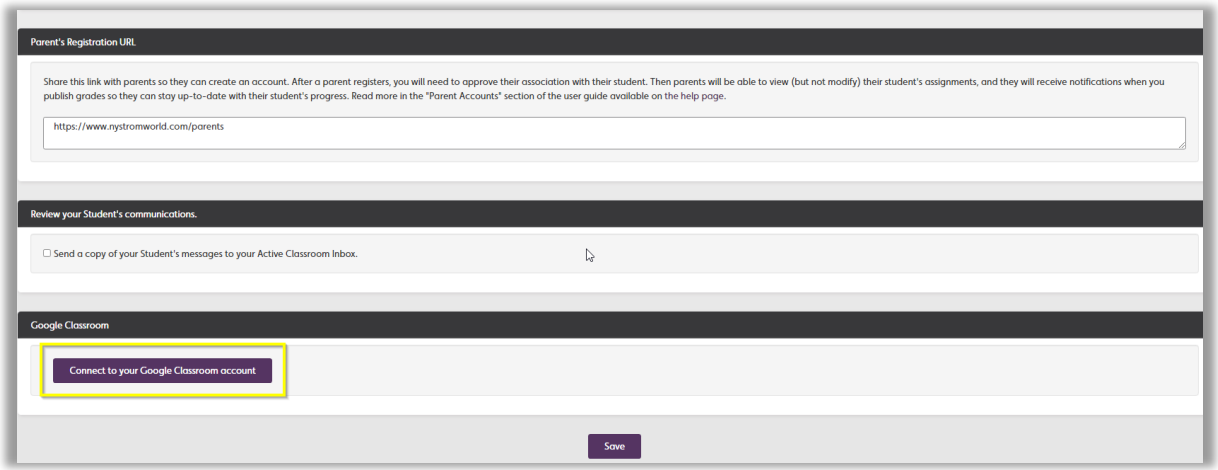

If your district has SSO you can also login with Clever or ClassLink.

2. Connect your account with Google Classroom

Go to your user profile.

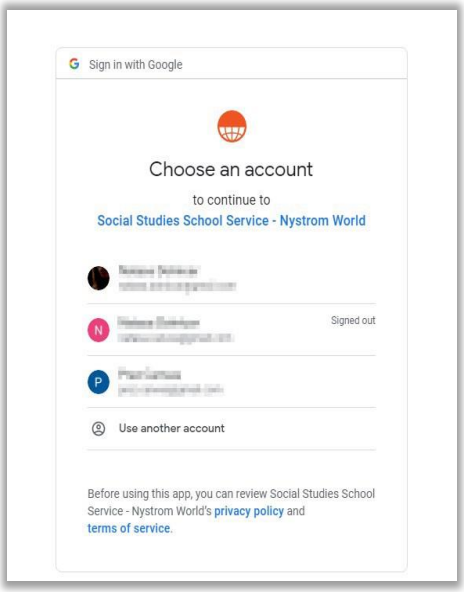

Scroll down to 'Google Classroom' section and click the 'Connect to your Google Classroom account'. This is a required step to allow Nystrom World to pull class information from your Google Classroom account.

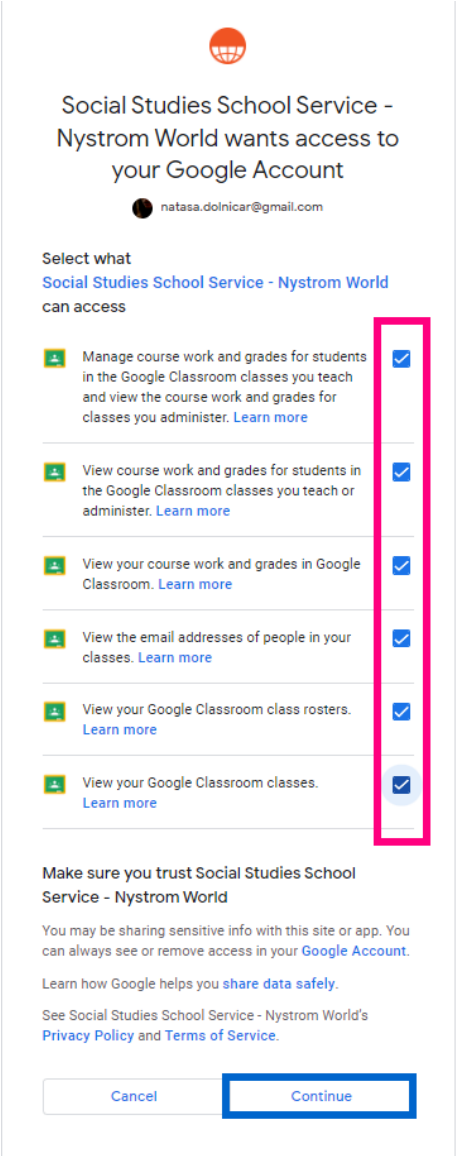

You will be sent to Google to choose your account.

Make sure to select the correct one.

Your Nystrom World email must match the email address in your Google Classroom.

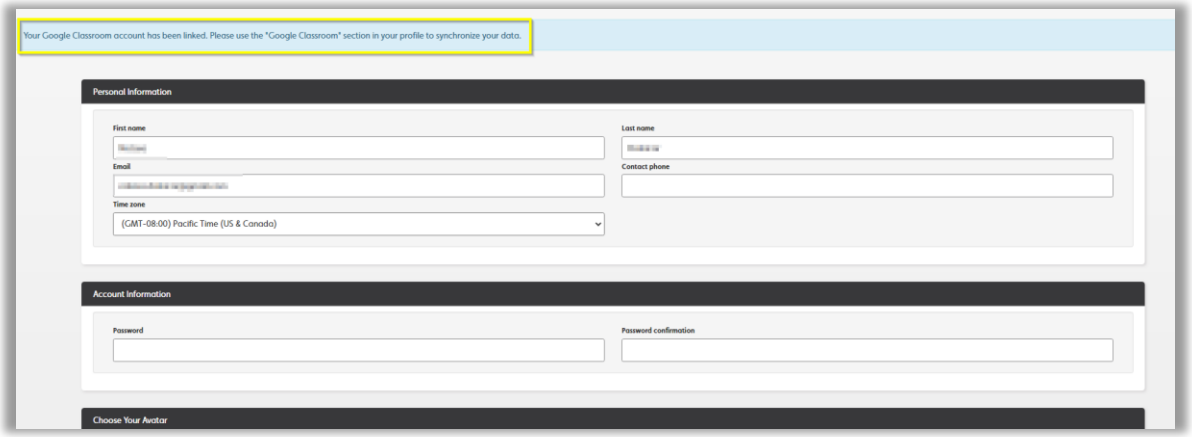

You must grant all permission to Active Classroom before clicking “Continue’.

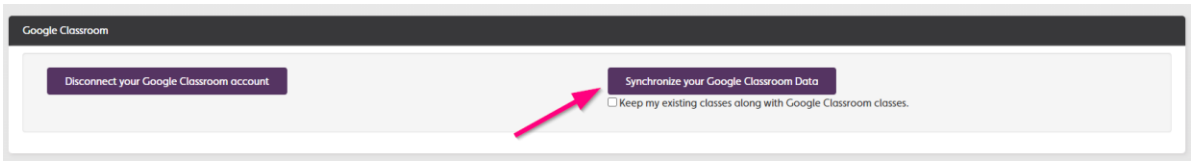

If any of the permissions are denied the connection will not work properly.

Once the permission is granted, you will be taken back to Nystrom World. You will see a message letting you know your account was connected to Google Classroom.

3. Synchronize your account with Google Classroom

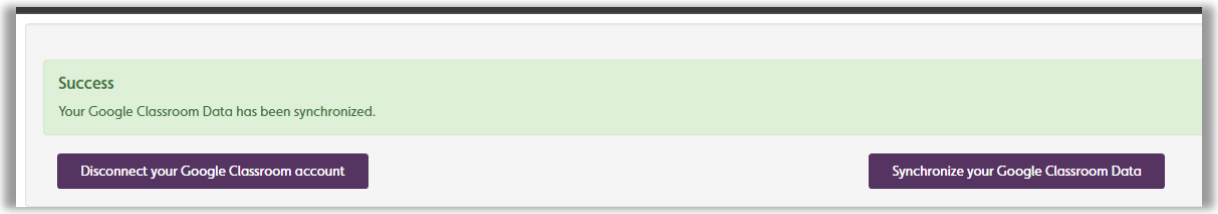

The next step is to synchronize your Nystrom account. Scroll back down to 'Google Classroom' section and click 'Synchronize your Google Classroom Data'.

The check box below the sync button allows you to keep existing classes along with Google Classroom classes. If you do not check this box your existing classes will be removed and replaced with classes from Google Classroom.

Please wait on the page until the sync is complete. After the process is done, you should see a green Success message in the Google Classroom section.

Once you have synchronized the two accounts you will see a success (or error) message.

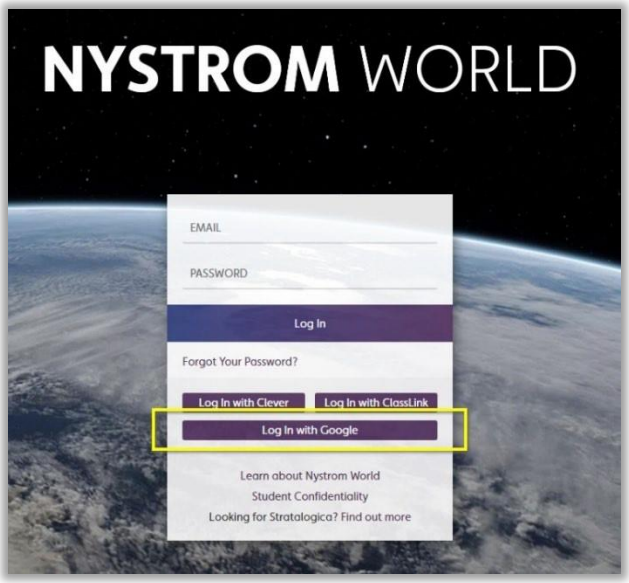

- If the process fails, the "sync" button will be disabled – in this case try reloading the page.
- If account gets disconnected, the informative warnings will show up when trying different things. In this case go back to your profile and click "connect" again.

Every time you create new classes or add new students in Google Classroom you must go to your Nystrom profile to sync the account.

Connecting NW/GC for students

1. Login with Google

   Students should go to Nystrom World login page and select 'Log In with Google' option.

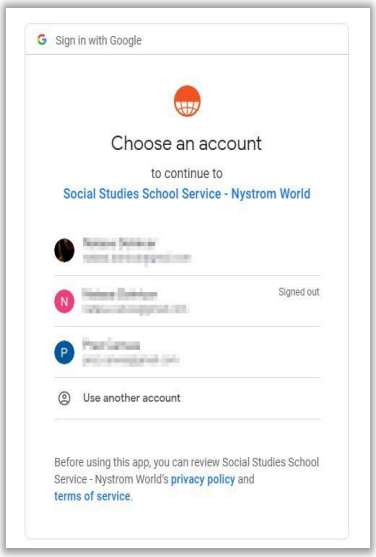

2. Connect NW/GC

   Once they are logged in, students should go to their profile and click the 'Connect to your Google Classroom Account'.

3. Student will then select their Google account.

   It is important that students choose a correct google account – the one that is registered in their Google Classroom account.

4. Grant permission

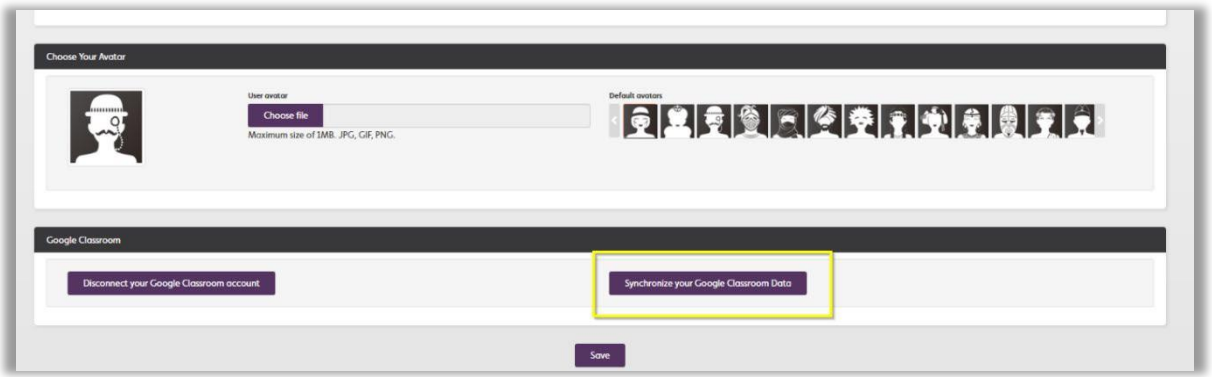

Like teachers, students will need to grant permission to NW. They need to click 'Allow' on each screen.

Finally, they will have to confirm their choices and click 'Allow' button.

5. Synchronize NW/GC

After connecting NW and GC accounts, students need to "synchronize" the two accounts. Once again, they should go to their profile. They will now see a button to 'Synchronize your Google Classroom Data."

Google Classroom FAQ

I connected my account with Google Classroom, but the 'Sync' button isn't showing up.

If the sync button isn't showing up, please go to your Google account and remove Nystrom World from 'Third-party apps with account access':

1. Go to https://myaccount.google.com/

2. Go to Data & privacy – Third-party apps & services.

3. Find and open Social Studies School Service –Nystrom World

4. Remove access – Delete all connections.

5. Go back to your Nystrom World profile page to connect with Google. Please make sure to grant all permissions (check all boxes). When you sync, please make sure to wait on the page until the sync is complete (you will see a 'success' message).
